OVER 80 LEADING ARTISTS AND ARCHITECTS UNITE FOR CURE³, A SELLING EXHIBITION IN AID OF THE CURE PARKINSON'S TRUST - BONHAMS, LONDON. 25-28TH OCTOBER

The Cure Parkinson's Trust, in association with Bonhams and Artwise, is delighted to announce Cure³ 2018, the 2nd edition of the acclaimed selling exhibition devised to raise awareness and funds for Parkinson's research. Featuring original commissions by more than 80 international artists, Cure³ is an opportunity to buy covetable art whilst supporting the vital work of The Trust.

Co-Founded in 2005 by Tom Isaacs, The Cure Parkinson's Trust (CPT) is a charitable organisation created by and for people living with Parkinson's. CPT has one bold aim – to find a cure for Parkinson's. CPT funds and supports pioneering research into new treatments which offer real hope of a cure to the more than 10 million people living with the condition worldwide.

Tom lived an inspirational life with Parkinson's, devoted to the cause of CPT. He was passionate about the Cure³ project from the beginning and it was Tom's description of living with Parkinson's as feeling like being 'boxed in' that inspired Artwise with the concept from which Cure³ was borne. Tom passed away on May 31st, 2017 and Cure³ 2018 is dedicated to his memory and incredible achievements.

Cure³ will include a host of major new artists for 2018 and the addition of important names from the world of architecture. Each artist has been invited to create a unique artwork using a bespoke Perspex box 20cm³. The cube can be used in any way the artist chooses; as frame, support or to contain. Prices for these highly sought-after and collectable art works will range from under £1,000 to over £20,000. The cubes will be on view to the public at Bonhams, London from 26th – 28th October (with the Private view on 25th), and are available to purchase on www.cure3.co.uk from 8am on 26th October 2018.

A final and complete list of artists will be published in September but we are thrilled to confirm Cure³ 2018 will include: Alice Anderson, Ron Arad, Rana Begum, Tony Bevan, Peter Blake, Rose Blake, Rob and Nicky Carter, Dan Chadwick, Jake & Dinos Chapman, Mat Collishaw, Adam Dant, Bouke de Vries, Edmund de Waal, Knopp Ferro, Laura Ford, Foster+Partners, Ryan Gander, Andy Goldworthy, Piers Gough (Arch), Nick Grimshaw (Arch), Alex Hartley, Michael Hopkins (Arch), Nick Hornby, Henry Hudson, Paul Huxley, Alison Jackson, Tess Jaray, Ben Johnson, Anish Kapoor, Phillip King, Helen Kirwan-Taylor, Tania Kovats, Davidson Sandilands (Arch), Andrew Logan, Helen Marten, Harland Miller, Mariko Mori, cont.

Alfred Munkenbeck (Arch), Humphrey Ocean, John Pawson (Arch), Florence Peake, Simon Periton, Saad Qureshi, Danny Rolph, Nina Saunders, Conrad Shawcross, Dillwyn Smith, Troika, Gavin Turk, Charlotte Verity, Chris Wilkinson (Arch), Chris Williamson (Arch) and Jonathan Yeo.

Cure³ is devised by Susie Allen and Laura Culpan from Artwise, the dynamic curatorial team behind the original RCA Secret postcard project. Cure³ 2017 was a critical success and raised more than £300,000 for CPT, securing plaudits from a host of international media including SKY News, F.T, How To Spend It, The Evening Standard, The Sunday Times, The Observer Magazine, The Telegraph, The Art Newspaper Wallpaper* and World of Interiors.

Followed and supported by both established and new collectors, Cure³ is an unmissable addition to the international art calendar and an important way to support The Cure Parkinson's Trust; by backing their essential work we continue the legacy of Tom Isaacs and his aim of consigning Parkinson's to a disease of the past.

"Tom's passion, determination and hard-work on behalf of everyone living with Parkinson's were the hallmark of his life – and will be his continuing legacy."
Michael J. Fox. Actor and Parkinson's Activist with the Michael J. Fox Foundation.

"Cure³ 2018 is part of Tom's legacy and is a tribute to his ability to inspire others to help find a cure. We are delighted that once again, the money raised from this wonderful event will be directed to funding clinical trials on treatments that have the potential to slow, stop, or reverse the progression of Parkinson's."
Lyndsey Isaacs. The Cure Parkinson's Trust.

NOTES TO EDITORS

Format of Selling Exhibition Please note that this is not an auction, each art work will be individually priced by the artist and sold at this fixed price during the four-day exhibition and for a limited period following the exhibition from the dedicated web platform being created. All the proceeds will go directly to The Cure Parkinson's Trust, to fund research to slow, stop or reverse Parkinson's disease.

The Cure Parkinson's Trust (CPT) was founded in 2005 by four people living with Parkinson's. CPT takes a patient-centric approach to funding innovative projects and inspirational scientists with the potential to change the course of the condition and make a difference to the lives of people with Parkinson's. Parkinson's is a debilitating condition affecting over 145,000 people in the UK alone and 10 million people worldwide. It is a neurological disorder characterised by tremors, stiffness, slowness of movement and balance problems. It is predicted that 1 person in 37 will receive a diagnosis of Parkinson's in their lifetime.

The Cure Parkinson's Trust is the only organisation in the UK solely dedicated to finding a cure for Parkinson's. At CPT we believe that we are closer than ever to new treatments. For over ten years, we have been committed to strategically funding research to find a cure for the condition once and for all. The charity's Linked Clinical Trials (LCT) programme identifies potential new treatments by taking existing drugs used to treat other diseases and testing them as treatments for Parkinson's. Our role is to develop clinical trials to understand if these drugs may be effective to slow, stop or even reverse the progression of Parkinson's. We believe that our pioneering and collaborative approach to research will one day soon, deliver curative treatments for Parkinson's.

Around 145,000 people in the UK are living with Parkinson's, and it is predicted that one in 37 people will receive a diagnosis of Parkinson's in their lifetime. CPT funds innovative research which is dedicated to finding new treatments that can slow, stop or reverse Parkinson's.

"Cure3 enables CPT to fund essential research into new treatments with the potential to change Parkinson's by slowing, stopping or even reversing the disease. It is the calibre of the exhibition, so generously supported by the artists themselves and Bonhams, that is enabling this small but dedicated charity to draw attention to the urgent need to fund ground-breaking trials to find a cure."
